ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer has a character input function, and is provided with a detecting section which detects a keyword specified by one or more input characters, a display section which displays a menu screen indicating registered dictionaries when the keyword is detected, and an issuing section which issues a search request for dictionary data specified by the keyword in a dictionary which is selected as a search target on the menu screen with respect to a dictionary search program.

5

10

15

20

25

30

35